DEAR MS. SIMPSON:

My great grandfather was a circuit Baptist Minister whom traveled throughout North Georgia, Eastern Tennessee, and Western North Carolina. He spent much of his time ministering to the Eastern Band Tribe of the Cherokee Native Americans. Here he fell in love with and later married Princess Fawn Long. Their marriage lasted over sixty three years and she taught him many things. Recounted to me one of these life-lessons: It being, to not let trees stand in the way of the beauty of the forest. As he daily traveled with great-grandmother along his side he said he saw what is now The Great Smokey Mountains National Park in a different way as each item there held its own splendor.

This past week I encountered a wonderful situation he would have recognized the grandeur held therein. Last Thursday I utilized the services of Smooth Move Senior Relocation Services. What a thrill to find a company, and a group of individuals working harmoniously to get a rather tough job completed with such excellence.

First our telephone contact sold me on utilizing your services. The prices were fair and I could feel an air of professionalism and care. That morning we sat up and finalized the deal.

Then comes the really important part: Harris, Dexter, Keena, and Juanita. They met me with smiles handshakes and warm greetings, consulting me on my wants, needs, and desires. Within just a few minutes my "treasures were being carefully packed, and placed on the truck in a careful and professional manner with
